

New Updates:

RWLE/SV Review: In process of working to review of final draft of the University's respectful work and learning environment and sexual violence policies to submit to senate and board of governors in early spring.

Ongoing/Continuing Work:

- 1) Justice for Women x UMSU Colouring Book Partnership Update: JFW and UMSU collaborated for a 2019 edition of "Your Voice Matters" Colouring Book & Sexual Violence Resource & Support Guide for Survivors & Allies. Included is student artwork colouring pages, FAQs, on and off campus resources and messages of hope, support, self-love and reminders of consent and healthy relationships. Copies are now available at the UMSU front desk or through the JFW office.
- 2) MDAM x UMSU Mental Health Peer Support Training Update: Over Reading Week UMSU partnered with the non-for-profit, Mood Disorders of Manitoba to bring free and comprehensive mental health peer support training to students. This 2 day training was open to all students, with capacity of 12. The goal of this training was to provide students concrete peer support skills require to work with individuals and groups on campus. In order to address very real mental health issues, this training will build your capacity to listen, reflect and support those who need it most. Overall, training was successful and now looking to expand this training in the coming months/year.
